SURFACE DESIGNERS WITH DEPTH

Jocelyn Warner's commitment to design is rooted in her childhood environs. She grew up in a home designed by her architect father in the 1960s and clearly absorbed the ethos of the fabrics (by luminaries such as Lucienne Day) and furniture that surrounded her. Her company, launched in 1999, swiftly gained a reputation for bold scale and innovative repeat pattern, but delicacy defines her Leaf Line, and the exaggerated scale of Lily brings to mind Alice in Wonderland. Speciality inks and effects mean Warner's papers push boundaries, but remain perfectly desirable.
