Off the wall

Having studied textile design at university, it's something of a surprise that Jocelyn Warner, who's best known for her beautiful wallpapers, hasn't launched a fabric collection until now. The designs are taken from four of her best-loved wallpaper patterns, including the classic tree-top motif shown here, and are suitable for curtains and upholstery. Tree Tops, Flora, Blossom and Leaf fabrics, all £49 a metre, Jocelyn Warner

April Showers

Known for his beautiful papercut-printed designs on cards, artwork and clothing, artist Rob Ryan has collaborated with Wild and Wolf to create a gift collection, which includes vases, bunting, mugs, plates and bags. This charming umbrella is perfect for rainy spring days. Umbrella, from £17.95, available from John Lewis, Bloomsbury and Baltic Mill

Faded beauty

Pine makes a comeback with this beautiful Larkin sideboard, part of the latest collection from Graham and Green. The distressed style would work in either a country or contemporary setting. The trompe l'oeil cabinet has two drawers at the top and two cupboards beneath, but with the handles arranged to give the illusion of 14 drawers. You'll find fabulous trunks and dressers in the collection, too. Larkin pine sideboard, £1195, Graham and Green

Back from the archives

Fay and Ginger, a new collection by Danish company Greengate, uses motifs adapted from hand-painted designs found in French pattern journals. The large collection uses florals, checks, printed lace edges and postal prints in a classic royal blue and white colour scheme over cushions, picnicware, bedding, kitchenware, crockery and tablelinen. Fay stoneware, from £4 for an eggcup, Greengate at Berry Red
